

Comparative Syntax and Language Acquisition

Luigi Rizzi

London and New York

Contents

Original publication details	vii
1 Introduction	1
PART I Principles and parameters in the pronominal systems	16
2 Null objects in Italian and the theory of pro	17
3 Three issues in Romance dialectology	85
4 Some notes on Romance cliticization	102
PART II Locality	132
5 On chain formation	133
6 On the anaphor-agreement effect	169
7 Argument/adjunct (a)symmetries	186
8 Direct perception, government and thematic sharing	203
PART III Cartography	228
9 Residual verb second and the Wh Criterion	229
10 The fine structure of the left periphery	260
PART IV Acquisition	319
11 Early null subjects and root null subjects	320
12 Some notes on linguistic theory and language development: the case of root infinitives	343
References	364
Author index	381
Subject index	386