

HBR Guide to Being More Productive

HARVARD BUSINESS REVIEW PRESS

Boston, Massachusetts

Contents

SECTION ONE

Take Stock

- 1. Make Time for Work That Matters 3
Evaluate what's on your plate and then drop, delegate, or redesign.
BY JULIAN BIRKINSHAW AND JORDAN COHEN
- 2. Are You Too Stressed to Be Productive?
Or Not Stressed Enough? 15
A research-based assessment.
BY FRANCESCA GINO
- 3. What's Your Personal Productivity Style? 25
How do you do your best work?
BY CARSON TATE

SECTION TWO

Plan Your Day

- 4. You May Hate Planning, but You Should
Do It Anyway 35
The pain will be worth it.
BY ELIZABETH GRACE SAUNDERS

- 5. Making the Most of “Slow Time” 41
Get important work done, even when it’s not urgent.
BY LYNDA CARDWELL
- 6. Align Your Time Management with Your Goals 47
A simple tool can help.
- 7. A Tool to Help You Reach Your Goals in Four Steps 53
Break them down and make a plan.
BY HEIDI GRANT
- 8. Sprints Are the Secret to Getting More Done 57
They’re not just for software development.
BY JOHN ZERATSKY
- 9. Accomplish More by Committing to Less 63
What to consider before taking on a new project.
BY ELIZABETH GRACE SAUNDERS
- 10. How to Say No to Taking On More Work 71
But maintain relationships.
BY REBECCA KNIGHT
- 11. The Most Productive People Know Whom to Ignore 79
Not everything merits your time and attention.
BY ED BATISTA
- 12. Fending Off a Colleague Who Keeps Wasting Your Time 85
Traffic control for drive-by visitors.
BY DORIE CLARK

- 13. Give Yourself Permission to Work Fewer Hours 91
Without feeling guilty about it.
BY ELIZABETH GRACE SAUNDERS
- 14. You'll Feel Less Rushed If You Give Time Away 97
Research proves the paradox.
BY CASSIE MOGILNER

SECTION THREE

Find Your Focus

- 15. Five Ways to Minimize Office Distractions 105
Build your attention muscle.
BY JOSEPH GRENNY
- 16. Train Your Brain to Focus 111
You can learn to ignore distractions.
BY PAUL HAMMERNESS, MD, AND MARGARET MOORE
- 17. The Two Things Killing Your Ability to Focus 117
Devices and meetings.
BY WILLIAM TRESEDER
- 18. Faced with Distraction, We Need Willpower 123
Strengthen your self-control.
BY JOHN COLEMAN
- 19. How to Practice Mindfulness Throughout Your Workday 127
From when you wake up to your commute home.
BY RASMUS HOUGAARD AND JACQUELINE CARTER

- 20. Coffee Breaks Don't Boost Productivity
After All 131
Take a meaningful microbreak.
BY CHARLOTTE FRITZ
- 21. Gazing at Nature Makes You More Productive:
An Interview with Kate Lee 139
Forty seconds is all it takes.
BY NICOLE TORRES
- 22. Five Ways to Work from Home More Effectively 145
Log on and take charge of your day.
BY CAROLYN O'HARA
- 23. Things to Buy, Download, or Do When Working Remotely 153
Be productive no matter where you are.
BY ALEXANDRA SAMUEL

SECTION FOUR

Motivate Yourself

- 24. Finding Meaning at Work, Even When
Your Job Is Dull 163
You don't need to be curing cancer to feel good about your job.
BY MORTEN HANSEN AND DACHER KELTNER
- 25. How to Make Yourself Work When You
Just Don't Want To 169
Get that project off the back burner—for good.
BY HEIDI GRANT

- 26. How to Beat Procrastination 175
Outsmart your brain's tendency to put off big goals.
BY CAROLINE WEBB
- 27. Steps to Take When You're Starting to Feel Burned Out 181
Feeling overwhelmed is a signal, not a life sentence.
BY MONIQUE VALCOUR
- 28. Pronouns Matter When Psyching Yourself Up 187
Talk to yourself more effectively.
BY OZLEM AYDUK AND ETHAN KROSS
- 29. Staying Motivated When Everyone Else Is on Vacation 193
Take advantage of an empty office.
BY DORIE CLARK

SECTION FIVE

Get More Done on the Road

- 30. How to Use Your Travel Time Productively 199
Waiting in lines doesn't have to be a waste of time.
BY DORIE CLARK
- 31. How to Get Work Done on the Road 203
The hotel notepad: unsung productivity hero.
BY JOSEPH GRENNY

SECTION SIX

Take Time Off

- 32. Going on Vacation Doesn't Have to Stress
You Out at Work 211
Ease your exit—and reentry.
BY ELIZABETH GRACE SAUNDERS
- 33. Don't Obsess Over Getting Everything
Done Before a Vacation 217
A saner way to prepare for being out.
BY SCOTT EDINGER
- 34. Ease the Pain of Returning to Work
After Time Off 223
Get back into the groove.
BY ALEXANDRA SAMUEL
- Index* 229