

Julian
Baggini

How the World Thinks

A Global History of Philosophy

CONTENTS

Title Page

Dedication

A Note on Names

Introduction

Prologue: A historical overview from the Axial to the Information Age

PART ONE:

HOW THE WORLD KNOWS

1 Insight

2 The ineffable

3 Theology or philosophy?

4 Logic

5 Secular reason

6 Pragmatism

7 Tradition

8 Conclusion

PART TWO:

HOW THE WORLD IS

9 Time

10 Karma

11 Emptiness

12 Naturalism

13 Unity

14 Reductionism

15 Conclusion

PART THREE:

WHO IN THE WORLD ARE WE?

16 No-self

17 The relational self

18 The atomised self

19 Conclusion

PART FOUR:
HOW THE WORLD LIVES

20 Harmony

21 Virtue

22 Moral exemplars

23 Liberation

24 Transience

25 Impartiality

26 Conclusion

PART FIVE:
CONCLUDING THOUGHTS

27 How the world thinks

28 A sense of place

Further Reading

Acknowledgements

Index

By the Same Author

Copyright