
Caren Brenda Scheepers • Sonja Swart

Change Leadership in Emerging Markets

The Ten Enablers Model

 Springer

Contents

Part I Theoretical Background

1	Orientation to Change Leadership	3
1.1	Domain of Change Leadership in Emerging Markets	3
1.2	Research Method	6
1.3	Practical Application	7
	References	8
2	Leadership of Change	11
2.1	Traditional Change Models	11
2.2	Leadership During Change	12
2.2.1	Orientation to Leadership During Change	12
2.2.2	Positioning of This Volume's Change Leadership Framework	17
2.3	Change Frameworks	19
2.3.1	Orientation to Change Frameworks	19
2.3.2	Positioning the Change Framework of This Volume	23
2.4	Complexity in Emerging Markets' Environments	25
2.4.1	Rational Realities of Emerging Markets	25
2.4.2	Emotional Realities of Emerging Markets	28
2.4.3	Political Realities of Emerging Markets	30
2.4.4	Relevance of Studying Emerging Markets for Change Leadership	31
2.5	Conclusion	33
	References	34
3	Introduction to Neuroscience and Change	43
3.1	What Is Neuroscience?	43
3.2	How Neuroscience Will Be Used in This Book	44
3.3	Brain Basics	45
3.4	The Two Brain Systems	47
3.5	Key Parts of the Brain	47
3.6	The Triune Brain	49
3.7	Neurotransmitters	51

3.7.1	Dopamine	51
3.7.2	Serotonin	51
3.7.3	Cortisol	52
3.7.4	Norepinephrine/Noradrenalin	52
3.7.5	Oxytocin	52
3.7.6	Acetylcholine	53
3.7.7	Endorphins	53
3.8	Brain Principles	54
3.8.1	Key Organising Principle of the Brain: Minimise Threat, Maximise Reward	54
3.8.2	The Brain as an Error Detector	56
3.8.3	The Brain Is a Prediction Machine	56
3.8.4	The Brain Prefers Certainty and Routine	56
3.9	Neuroscience and Change	57
3.10	Neuroscience and Organisations	58
3.11	Critiques of Neuroscience	58
3.12	Conclusion	59
	References	59

Part II Practical Application

4	The Ten Enablers Model	65
4.1	Orientation to the Ten Enablers Model	66
4.2	Introduction to the Ten Enablers Model	68
4.3	The Sigmoid Curve	70
4.4	Is the Process Sequential?	71
4.5	Graphic Symbols	71
4.6	Tree Metaphor Applied to the Ten Enablers Model	73
4.7	Applying the Ten Enablers Model Using a Story	74
4.8	Practical Process Flow of the Ten Enablers Model	76
4.9	Chapter Layout	77
	References	81
5	First Enabler	83
5.1	Orientation to Ethos	84
5.2	Importance of Ethos	84
5.2.1	The Spirit of Our Time Around Organisational Contextual Ethos	86
5.3	Ethos in Practice	89
5.3.1	Models Used in Practice	89
5.3.2	Practical Tools and Templates Used in the Ethos Process	95
5.3.3	Implementation Tips for Ethos	100

5.4	Neuroscience Insights into Ethos	100
5.4.1	Anatomy of Morality	101
5.4.2	Values Change Over Time and Depend on Context . . .	102
5.4.3	When Ethics Go Wrong	103
5.5	Ethos in the Emerging Markets Context	104
5.5.1	Case Examples of Ethos in the Emerging Markets Context	104
5.5.2	Case Examples of Ethos in Emerging Market Organisations	109
5.6	Measuring Ethos	112
5.7	Conclusion and Outcome of the First Enabler, Ethos	112
	References	112
6	Second Enabler	119
6.1	Orientation to Ego Mastery	120
6.2	Importance of Ego Mastery for Change Leadership	120
6.3	Ego Mastery in Practice	122
6.3.1	Road to Ego Mastery	122
6.4	Neuroscience Insights into Ego Mastery	140
6.4.1	Step 0: Mindfulness	141
6.4.2	Step 1: Inward (Self-Awareness, Self-Reflection, Self-Deception)	142
6.4.3	Step 2: Outward (Ask for and Receive Feedback)	143
6.4.4	Step 3: Toward (Personal Values, Passions, Learnings, Drivers, Vision, Goals)	144
6.4.5	Step 4: Forward (EQ, Personal Habits, Self-Control, Emotional Regulation, Personal Work, Energy and Emotions, Act on and Review Feedback, Celebrate) . . .	145
6.4.6	Step 5: Wayward (Disappointments, Depression, Burnout)	149
6.5	Ego Mastery in Emerging Markets	150
6.5.1	Case Examples in the Emerging Markets Contexts	150
6.5.2	Case Examples of Ego Mastery in Emerging Market Organisations	153
6.6	Measuring Ego Mastery	154
6.7	Conclusion and Outcome of the Second Enabler, Ego Mastery	154
	References	155
7	Third Enabler: Explore	161
7.1	Orientation to Exploring	162
7.2	Importance of Exploring	162
7.3	Exploring in Practice	163
7.3.1	The Exploration Process	164
7.4	Neuroscience Insights into Exploring	172

7.5	Exploring in Emerging Markets	174
7.5.1	Case Examples of Exploring in the Emerging Markets Contexts	174
7.6	Measuring the Third Enabler, Explore	179
7.7	Conclusion and Outcome of the Third Enabler, Explore	180
	References	180
8	Fourth Enabler	185
8.1	Orientation to Eureka Moments	186
8.2	Importance of Eureka Moments	189
8.3	Eureka Moments in Practice	191
8.3.1	Paradigm Shifts	191
8.3.2	Eureka Moments Process	192
8.3.3	Implementation Tips for Eureka Moments	196
8.4	Neuroscience Insights into Eureka Moments	196
8.4.1	Eureka Really Exist!	196
8.4.2	Where in the Brain Does the Eureka Moment Happen?	197
8.5	Eureka Moments in Emerging Markets	199
8.5.1	Case Examples of Eureka Moments in the Emerging Markets Contexts	199
8.6	Measuring Fourth Enabler, Eureka Moments	203
8.7	Conclusion and Outcome of the Fourth Enabler, Eureka Moments	203
	References	203
9	Fifth Enabler	207
9.1	Orientation to Envisioning	208
9.2	Importance of Envisioning	208
9.3	Envisioning in Practice	211
9.3.1	The Envisioning Process	211
9.3.2	Implementation Tips for Envisioning	218
9.4	Neuroscience Insights into Envisioning	219
9.4.1	Visualisation	220
9.4.2	Warning!	221
9.4.3	Resisting Change and the Cost of the Change	221
9.5	Envisioning in Emerging Markets	222
9.5.1	Case Examples of Envisioning in the Emerging Markets Context	222
9.5.2	Case Examples of Envisioning in Emerging Markets Organisations	224
9.6	Measuring Fifth Enabler, Envision	225
9.7	Conclusion and Outcome of the Fifth Enabler, Envision	225
	References	225

10	Sixth Enabler	229
10.1	Orientation to Engaging	230
10.2	Importance of Engaging	231
10.2.1	Political Acumen	232
10.2.2	Emotional Acumen	233
10.2.3	Opposing Views in Current Literature on Resistance	234
10.3	Engaging in Practice	235
10.3.1	The Engagement Process	235
10.3.2	Implementation Tips for Engaging	244
10.4	Neuroscience Insights into Engaging	244
10.4.1	SCARF Model	244
10.4.2	Mirror Neurons	245
10.4.3	The Brain Is a Social Organ, and Detests Rejection	246
10.4.4	Getting Buy-In	247
10.4.5	The Brain and Resistance to Change	247
10.5	Engaging in Emerging Markets	248
10.5.1	Case Examples of Engaging in the Emerging Markets Context	248
10.5.2	Case Examples of Engaging in Emerging Markets Organisations	250
10.6	Measuring Sixth Enabler, Engage	253
10.7	Conclusion and Outcome of the Sixth Enabler, Engage	253
	References	253
11	Seventh Enabler	259
11.1	Orientation to Embarking	260
11.1.1	Change Process Mapping	260
11.1.2	Roles and Responsibilities	261
11.2	Importance of Embarking	262
11.2.1	Mitigating Risks	262
11.2.2	Change Communication	263
11.2.3	Participation	263
11.3	Embarking in Practice	264
11.3.1	Force Field Analysis	264
11.3.2	Potential Pitfalls/Barriers	265
11.3.3	Dealing with Resistance	266
11.3.4	Change Strategies	266
11.3.5	Change Interventions	267
11.3.6	Communication Strategy	268
11.3.7	Team Goals	268
11.3.8	Goal Pursuit	270
11.4	Neuroscience Insights into Embarking	271
11.4.1	Goal Setting	272
11.4.2	Decision-Making	273

11.5	Embarking in Emerging Markets	274
11.5.1	Case Examples of Embarking in the Emerging Markets Contexts	274
11.5.2	Case Examples of Embarking in Emerging Markets Organisations	276
11.6	Measuring Seventh Enabler, Embark	278
11.7	Conclusion and Outcome of the Seventh Enabler, Embark	278
	References	278
12	Eighth Enabler	283
12.1	Orientation to Executing	284
12.2	Importance of Executing	284
12.3	Executing in Practice	290
12.3.1	Team Member Motivation	290
12.3.2	Change Team Commitment, Readiness, Capability, Skill (CRCS)	291
12.3.3	Why Do We Procrastinate?	291
12.3.4	Celebrate Milestones	291
12.3.5	Resistance to Change (RTC)	292
12.3.6	Implementation Tips for Executing	292
12.4	Neuroscience Insights into Executing	293
12.4.1	Goal-Delivery: How to “Just Do It!”	293
12.4.2	Distractions	294
12.4.3	Habits	296
12.4.4	Implications for Organisations Going Through Change	300
12.5	Executing in Emerging Markets	300
12.5.1	Case Examples of Executing in Emerging Markets Contexts	300
12.5.2	Case Examples of Executing in Emerging Market Organisations	302
12.6	Measuring Eight Enabler: Execute	305
12.7	Conclusion and Outcome of the Eighth Enabler, Execute	305
	References	305
13	Ninth Enabler	309
13.1	Orientation to Evaluating	310
13.2	Importance of Evaluating	311
13.3	Evaluating in Practice	312
13.3.1	The Evaluation Process	313
13.3.2	Implementation Tips for Evaluating	315
13.4	Neuroscience Insights into Evaluating	315
13.4.1	Receiving Feedback from Others	315
13.4.2	Rational Reflection	315

13.5	Evaluating in Emerging Markets	316
13.5.1	Case Examples of Evaluating in the Emerging Markets Contexts	316
13.5.2	Case Examples of Evaluating in Emerging Market Organisations	318
13.6	Measuring Ninth Enabler, Evaluate	319
13.7	Conclusion and Outcome of the Ninth Enabler, Evaluate	320
	References	320
14	Tenth Enabler	323
14.1	Orientation to Exiting	324
14.2	Importance of Exiting	324
14.3	Exiting in Practice	326
14.3.1	The Exiting Process	326
14.3.2	Implementation Tips for Exiting	330
14.4	Neuroscience Insights into Exiting	331
14.5	Executing in the Emerging Markets	332
14.5.1	Case Examples of Executing in the Emerging Markets Context	332
14.5.2	Case Examples of Executing in Emerging Market Organisations	333
14.6	Measuring Tenth Enabler: Exit	335
14.7	Conclusions and Outcome of the Tenth Enabler, Exit	336
	References	336
15	Conclusion and Future Research	339
15.1	Orientation to Final Chapter	339
15.2	Summary of the Ten Enablers Model of Leading Change in Emerging Markets	340
15.2.1	Considering the Whole Process as a Summary	340
15.2.2	Link Between Ethos and Exit: The Helix Model	340
15.3	Continuous Change as Future Research	342
15.4	Final Message	345
	References	346