

how to Teach
for Exams

Sally Burgess
Katie Head

series editor:
Jeremy Harmer

Contents

	Page
Introduction	iv
1 How to be a successful exams teacher	1
• What is special about teaching an exam class?
• What qualities make a successful exams teacher?
• The first lesson of the course
• How to pace the course
• How to build students' exam skills
• How to balance teaching and testing in an exam class
• When to test
2 How to plan a course and choose materials	15
• Factors to take into account when planning
• How these factors affect course planning
• How to choose materials for a particular course
3 How to teach reading for exams	27
• The different types of reading test
• What is measured in reading tests
• How to prepare students for reading tests
• Exam procedures and strategies for students
4 How to teach writing for exams	44
• Writing tests compared
• What kinds of writing tasks are there?
• What is measured in writing tests?
• Assessing written work and providing feedback
• How to help students to deal with task input
• Encouraging familiarity with genres
• How to prepare students for writing exam answers
• Handwriting and presentation
5 How to teach grammar and vocabulary for exams	64
• General approaches to teaching grammar and vocabulary for exams
• Common exam tasks
• Criteria used to assess grammar and vocabulary
• Helping learners get to grips with grammar and vocabulary

6	How to teach listening for exams	78
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Testing listening • What kinds of listening tasks are there? • How listening tests are conducted • What is assessed in listening tests? • Developing task awareness • Developing listening skills and strategies • Building confidence and managing stress • What do students need to remember in the test itself?
7	How to teach speaking for exams	99
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • What kinds of speaking tests are there? • How speaking exams are conducted • What is tested in speaking exams? • How to prepare students for speaking tests
8	How to teach for low-level exams	121
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • What is different about low-level exams? • Low-level reading and writing • Reading for general understanding • Reading to test knowledge of how the language works • Directed and free writing • Low-level listening • Low-level speaking • Low-level grammar and vocabulary
	Task File	142
	Appendix: Exams overview	151
	Index	154
	Table: Exams and levels	inside back cover