

ADVANCED THEORY AND PRACTICE IN SPORT MARKETING

Fourth Edition

ERIC C. SCHWARZ,
KYLE J. BRANNIGAN,
KEVIN P. CATTANI,
AND
JASON D. HUNTER

CONTENTS

List of figures	ix
List of tables	xi
List of case studies	xiii
List of from theory to practice pieces	xv
List of contributors	xvii
Pedagogical features	xix
Preface	xxi
List of abbreviations	xxiii
Prologue: Introduction to the theory and practice of sport marketing	1
PART I
Overview of the sport marketing ecosystem	9
1 Situation analysis of sport marketing	11
2 Developing the strategic sport marketing structure	29
PART II
Identifying sport marketing opportunities	47
3 Research and analytics-driven information systems	49
4 Understanding sport consumer behavior	71
PART III
Responding to the sport marketplace: product, price, and positioning strategies	93
5 Product and service design and quality	95
6 Pricing structures and strategies	112
7 Positioning and distribution of products and services	127

PART IV
Sport marketing communications and the promotions mix	143
8 Branding and sport brand management	145
9 Sales and customer service	165
10 Sport marketing partnerships: from prospecting to activation	182
11 Nondigital communications and the sport promotional mix	202
12 Digital marketing communications and technologies	217
PART V
Emerging concepts in sport marketing	241
13 Generating impacts through destination sport marketing	243
14 Emotional intelligence in sport marketing	259
Epilogue: Covid-19 and post-pandemic sport marketing	274
Glossary	281
Index	301