

Evaluating Social Media Marketing

Social Proof and Online Buyer Behaviour

Katarzyna Sanak-Kosmowska

Reviewed by Prof. dr hab. Henryk Mruk

Translated by Jasper Tilbury and Mark Aldridge

Contents

List of figures	vii
List of tables	ix
Preface	xi
Acknowledgements	xiii
1 Introduction	1
PART I
The phenomenon of social impact in online marketing	5
2 Theoretical framework – online marketing: between persuasion and manipulation	7
3 The structure of functions, forms, and organization of selected strategies of marketing communication and employed tools in the virtual environment	30
4 Social influence and its manifestation in the hypermedia computer environment: reasons, definition, models, and characteristics	51
5 Social proof as a key factor in social commerce	83
PART II
Social proof in marketing: effectiveness and impact awareness	99
6 Research model, objectives, and hypotheses	101
7 Confidence in social proof and its impact on buying decisions	112

vi	Contents
8	Characteristics of indicators of social proof based on experimental research	136
9	Discussion of findings in a global context	163
10	Summary	170
	Index	173