

Implicative Marketing

For a Sustainable Economy

Florence Touzé

Contents

List of figures	xi
List of tables	xii
About the author	xiii
Foreword	xiv
COLLEEN E. MILLS
Preface	xviii
Acknowledgements	xix
Introduction	1
1 Marketing's headlong rush	5
From Boucicaut to instant mashed potatoes	6
Economic crisis or crisis of faith?	8
Marketing is going around in circles	12
Irresponsible supply	14
2 Complexity killed the marketing mix	19
The end of the four Ps	19
Prices: where are the benchmarks?	19
And where can this item be bought now?	24
Has advertising learned nothing?	27
Competing to address the digital audience, a POEM in itself	29
Advertising responsibility: progress but more can be done	31

x	Contents
3	The emancipated consumer	36
	Understanding the consumer: marketing's quest	36
	Consumer behaviour, a processing scheme	37
	Discovering the emancipated consumer	46
	Millennials and their followers: whose turn is it to change the World?	54
4	The brand: friend or foe?	57
	Mistrust at all levels	58
	Points of reference and contracts	60
	Flawed perhaps, but honest	62
	The brand, open 24/7	63
	Defending one's name to defend one's acts	64
	Branding: far too serious a matter to leave to marketing pros	66
5	Implicative marketing	71
	Implicative marketing enables new angles of approach	71
	Implicative marketing: listening to the emancipated consumer	74
	Implicative marketing: the new company mediator	77
	Reflecting anew on the products and services to produce: a sine qua non for engaging in implicative marketing	78
	Implicative advertising, so that advertising can finally become a joining of forces	82
	Conclusion	88
	Afterword	93
	Bibliography	94
	Index	99