
International Corporate Personhood

Business and the Bodyless
in International Law

Kevin Crow

Contents

Introduction: the status quo	1
1 The emergence of international corporate personhood	8
I. Definitions and distinctions	9
a. Definitions	9
b. Distinctions	11
II. The corporate trinity: state, Church, company	13
III. A brief history of corporate personhood in three phases	19
a. The Magistrate Charter Phase: pre-1850	19
b. The public charter phase: 1850–1945	22
c. The personhood phase: post-1945	26
IV. Three conceptions of the ICP	29
a. Para-individualist	29
b. Para-statist	30
c. Para-institutionalist	31
V. Three incarnations of the ICP	31
a. The organic or ‘real entity’ theory	32
b. The positivist or concession theory	33
c. The proxy or institutional theory	33
VI. The separation of ownership and control	34
VII. Discussion: a person composed of persons	35
2 The international corporate person in international law: judge-made law	44
I. Preface to the next two chapters	44
II. The ICP in international tribunals	44
i. Subjectivity of the corporation	45
ii. Substantive rights	47

- iii. Criminal liability of corporations 48
- iv. Alien Tort Statute 49
- v. Human rights 53
- vi. Environment 55
- vii. Intellectual property 58
- viii. Clean hands and corruption 59
- ix. Importing rights through the New York Convention 60
- III. Conceptualizing judge-made ICP obligations:
 - erga omnes v. jus cogens* 62
 - a. Erga omnes 63
 - b. Jus cogens 64

3 The international corporate person in international law: texts and practices

71

- I. Exclusivity and the text 71
- II. The ICP in international legal texts and practices 72
 - a. Business and Human Rights 72
 - i. The European Convention on Human Rights and the European Court of Human Rights 72
 - ii. The protect, respect, and remedy framework 73
 - iii. The OEIGWG draft binding instrument 75
 - iv. The Hague Rules on Business and Human Rights arbitration 78
 - b. International criminal law 80
 - i. The joint criminal enterprise and aiding and abetting 80
 - ii. Environmental harm as a crime against humanity 83
 - c. International anti-corruption texts and practices 85
 - i. Explicit international anti-corruption instruments 86
 - ii. Transfer pricing 90
 - iii. Tax havens 94
 - iv. Deferred prosecution agreements 95
 - d. Environmental law 96
 - i. Stockholm 97
 - ii. Rio and aftermath 97
 - e. International economic law 99
 - i. Legacies of the new international legal order 99
 - ii. 'Development' and the ICP 103
 - f. OECD guidelines for multinational enterprises 106

- III. The modern ICP's role in 'authoring' international law 107
 - a. 'Consultant' or 'observer' status 107
 - b. The WTO's TRIPS agreement 109
 - c. CEO preferences and political spending 111
- IV. No analogies: the ICP's unique status under international law 113

4 Theorizing international corporate personhood 124

- I. Conceptualizing the international corporate person 126
 - a. Corporate exceptionalism 126
 - b. Beyond state, individual, and institution 128
 - c. Human problems and corporate conceptions 129
- II. Constituency and sovereignty as human problems 133
 - a. Constituency: IEL as a case study 133
 - b. Sovereignty as a strategy 140
- III. The public–private delusion 144
 - a. Background 146
 - b. Insurance and SOEs: examples from international economic law 149
 - c. Sovereignty and the veil 152
- IV. The ICP and a bundle of sticks 155
 - a. Duties: civil and criminal 156
 - b. The amorphous liability of corporate groups and networks 158
 - c. Hume and Hohfeld 160
- V. Toward a theory of the ICP 161
- VI. Changing gears: a summary thus far 164

5 Political bodies and the bodyless 175

- I. Political bodies and the bodyless 175
- II. Persons as disjointed things 176
 - a. The ICP and GVCs 176
 - b. The ICP and CSR 180
- III. Things as disenfranchised persons 181
 - a. Nature 182
 - b. Animals and AI 183
- IV. 'The actual': liability 185
 - a. Legal form and liability 185
 - b. Territory and liability 188
 - c. Liability in private normative orders 190

V. 'The possible': reform	191
a. Establishing new regimes: human rights and environment	192
b. Global economic law: taxation and wealth registration	193
c. Structural reform: governance and forbearance	195
Codetermination	195
Collective decision making	196
Keiretsu	196
d. Feminist political theory and the ICP	197
e. Anthropocentrism, sovereignty, and the ICP	198
Conclusion: beyond sovereignty, beyond the veil	206
Index	211