

TEACHING ESL COMPOSITION

PURPOSE, PROCESS, AND PRACTICE

Second Edition

Dana R. Ferris

California State University, Sacramento

John S. Hedgcock

Monterey Institute of International Studies

2005

LAWRENCE ERLBAUM ASSOCIATES, PUBLISHERS
Mahwah, New Jersey

London

Contents

Preface	ix
1 Theoretical and Practical Issues in ESL Writing	1
The Value of Theoretical Knowledge
Theory and Research in ESL Composition
Instruction
The Uniqueness of ESL Writers: Classroom
Implications
Summary
Reflection and Review
2 ESL Writing and L2 Literacy Development	30
Perspectives on L2 Literacy Development and the Sources of Literate Knowledge
Models of Literacy and the Teaching of ESL Writing
Tracing L1 and L2 Literacy Connections: Reading
Skills and Writing Proficiency
Roles for Extensive and Voluntary Reading in ESL
Composition
Reading and Writing in Socioliterate Communities:
Genre-Oriented Approaches to Literacy
Development
Summary
Reflection and Review
3 Syllabus Design and Lesson Planning in ESL
Composition Instruction	72
Syllabus Development: Principles and Procedures
Needs Assessment: A Tool for Syllabus Design
Setting and Meeting Goals for Learning and Teaching
From Goals to Objectives: The Syllabus as a
Framework for Instruction
Syllabus Development: Nuts and Bolts

The Course Schedule: Prioritizing, Sequencing, and Planning for Writing
Lesson Planning: Practices and Procedures
Summary
Reflection and Review
Appendix 3A: Sample Syllabus and Course Outline
Appendix 3B: Sample Lesson Plan
4 Text Selection, Materials Development, and Task Construction in ESL Composition	124
Surveying and Selecting ESL Composition Materials
Supplementing Course Texts With Original Materials and Tasks
Summary
Resource List
Reflection and Review
Appendix 4: Sample Summary, Paraphrase, and Quotation Exercise for an Advanced EAP Writing Course
5 Teacher Response to Student Writing: Issues in Oral and Written Feedback	184
Perspectives on Teacher Response
Research on Teacher Feedback
Principles for Providing Written Feedback
Guidelines for Written Teacher Commentary
Teacher–Student Writing Conferences
Summary
Reflection and Review
Appendix 5A: Course Rubric and Essay Checklist
Appendix 5B: Sample Student Paper
Appendix 5C: Sample Student Essays and Teacher Commentary
6 Building a Community of Writers: Principles of Peer Response	223
Peer Response: Kudos and Criticisms
Research on Peer Response
Principles of Effective Peer Response Activities
Summary
Reflection and Review
Appendix 6A: Sample Peer Response Tasks
Appendix 6B: Materials for Designing a Peer Response Form

7	Improving Accuracy in Student Writing: Error Treatment in the Composition Class	260
	A Brief History of Error Correction and Grammar Teaching in the Writing Class
	Error Correction: Questions, Issues, and Options
	Grammar Instruction: Research and Suggestions
	Strategy Training for Self-Editing
	Conclusion: Putting It All Together
	Summary
	Reflection and Review
	Appendix 7: Sample Student Essays
8	Classroom Approaches to ESL Writing Assessment	299
	Prospects and Pitfalls in L2 Writing Assessment: Measurement Tools and Participant Roles
	Principles of Task Reliability and Validity
	Approaches to Scoring in ESL Writing
	Portfolio Assessment
	Practical Concerns in Assessing Student Performance
	Summary
	Reflection and Review
9	Technology in the Writing Class: Uses and Abuses	344
	The Brief, Tumultuous History of Computer-Assisted Writing Research and Instruction
	Research Trends in Computer-Assisted Writing Instruction
	Pedagogical Issues in Computer-Assisted Writing Instruction
	Summary
	Reflection and Review
	Appendix 9: Sample Student Paper With Spelling and Grammar Analysis
	References	377
	Author Index	415
	Subject Index	425