

INTERNATIONAL LAW AND INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

Bridging theory and practice

*Edited by Thomas J. Biersteker,
Peter J. Spiro, Chandra Lekha Sriram, and Veronica Raffo*

 Routledge
Taylor & Francis Group
LONDON AND NEW YORK

CONTENTS

|   |           |
|---|-----------|
| Notes on contributors  | xii       |
| Foreword by John Tirman  | xiv       |
| Acknowledgments  | xvi       |
|   |           |
| 1 Introduction: international law and international politics – old divides, new developments                                     | 1  |
| VERONICA RAFFO, CHANDRA LEKHA SRIRAM,PETER SPIRO, AND THOMAS BIERSTEKER   |           |
|   |           |
| PART I   |           |
| Small arms and light weapons   | 25 |
|   |           |
| 2 Moving forward? Assessing normative and legal progress in dealing with small arms  | 27 |
| ROBERT MUGGAH   |           |
|   |           |
| 3 Small arms, violence, and the course of conflicts  | 43 |
| WILLIAM RENO  |           |
|   |           |
| 4 Commentary: a world drowning in guns   | 59 |
| HAROLD HONGJU KOH   |           |
|   |           |
| PART II  |           |
| Terrorism  | 77 |
|   |           |
| 5 International terrorism, nonstate actors, and transnational political mobilization: a perspective from International Relations | 79 |
| FIONA B. ADAMSON  |           |

CONTENTS

|                 |   |     |
|-----------------|---|-----|
| 6        | Crying war   | 93  |
|                 | MARY ELLEN O'CONNELL  |     |
| 7        | Preemption and exception: international law and the revolutionary power  | 111 |
|                 | GERRY SIMPSON AND NICHOLAS J. WHEELER   |     |
| 8        | Commentary: convergence of international law and international relations in combating international terrorism – the role of the United Nations | 127 |
|                 | CURTIS A. WARD  |     |
| PART III |   |     |
|                 | Internally displaced people  | 139 |
| 9        | The Guiding Principles on Internal Displacement and the development of international norms   | 141 |
|                 | FRANCIS M. DENG   |     |
| 10       | Commentary: privately generated soft law in international governance   | 166 |
|                 | KENNETH W. ABBOTT   |     |
| PART IV  |   |     |
|                 | International criminal accountability  | 179 |
| 11       | The International Criminal Court and universal international jurisdiction: a return to first principles  | 181 |
|                 | LEILA NADYA SADAT   |     |
| 12       | International humanitarian law: state collusion and the conundrum of jurisdiction  | 194 |
|                 | MADÉLINE MORRIS   |     |
| 13       | Whose justice? Reconciling universal jurisdiction with democratic principles   | 204 |
|                 | DIANE F. ORENTLICHER  |     |

CONTENTS

|               |   |     |
|---------------|---|-----|
| 14     | Bringing security back in: international relations theory and moving beyond the “justice versus peace” dilemma in transitional societies | 222 |
|               | CHANDRA LEKHA SRIRAM AND YOUSSEF MAHMOUD  |     |
| 15     | Commentary: international criminal accountability at the intersection of law and politics  | 236 |
|               | ELLEN L. LUTZ   |     |
| PART V |   |     |
|               | Conclusions  | 245 |
| 16     | Disaggregating US interests in international law: sketching a theory of liberal transnationalism   | 247 |
|               | PETER J. SPIRO  |     |
| 17     | New directions, new collaborations for international law and international relations   | 266 |
|               | MARTHA FINNEMORE  |     |
| 18     | International relations and international law: from competition to complementarity   | 278 |
|               | CLARENCE J. DIAS  |     |
|               | Selected bibliography  | 288 |
|               | Index  | 309 |

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

Kenneth W. Abbott is Professor of Law, Willard H. Pedrick Distinguished Research Scholar, and Professor of Global Studies at Arizona State University.

Fiona B. Adamson is Assistant Professor of International Relations and Director of the Program in International Public Policy at University College London.

Thomas J. Biersteker is Henry R. Luce Professor of Transnational Organizations at Brown University. He was the director of the Watson Institute for International Studies at Brown University from 1994 to 2006.

Clarence J. Dias is President of the International Center for Law in Development.

Francis M. Deng served in the United Nations as Special Representative of the Secretary-General on Internally Displaced Persons from 1993 to 2004. He is currently codirector of the Brookings Institution–Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies (SAIS) Project on Internal Displacement; Research Professor of International Politics, Law, and Society at SAIS; and founder of the SAIS Center for Displacement Studies.

Martha Finnemore is Professor of Political Science and International Affairs at George Washington University's Elliott School of International Affairs.

Harold Hongju Koh is Dean and Gerard C. and Bernice Latrobe Smith Professor of International Law, Yale Law School; and was Assistant Secretary of State for Democracy, Human Rights, and Labor, 1998–2001.

Ellen L. Lutz, Cultural Survival's Executive Director, formerly served as the Executive Director of the Center for Human Rights and Conflict Resolution at Tufts University's Fletcher School. From 1989 to 1994 she was the California Director for Human Rights Watch.

Youssef Mahmoud is currently the UNDP Resident Representative and UN Resident Coordinator in Guyana. Prior to this assignment and for a period of eight years, he was the Director of the Africa II Division, in the UN Department of Political Affairs.

Madeline Morris is Professor of Law at Duke University and Director of the Duke/Geneva Institute in Transnational Law. She has served as Senior Legal Counsel, Office of the Prosecutor, Special Court for Sierra Leone.

Robert Muggah is the project manager of the Small Arms Survey in Geneva; he has worked on postconflict recovery and reconstruction issues with multilateral and bilateral agencies in over a dozen countries.

Mary Ellen O'Connell is the Robert and Marion Short Chair in Law, Notre Dame Law School.

Diane F. Orentlicher is Professor of International Law and Codirector of the Center for Human Rights and Humanitarian Law at American University's Washington College of Law. In 2004–5 she served as the United Nations Independent Expert on combating impunity.

Veronica Raffo is a consultant for the World Bank in the Poverty Reduction and Economic Management Network, in the Latin America and Caribbean Region, and was previously Program Coordinator of the Global Security and Cooperation Program of the Social Science Research Council in Washington, DC.

William Reno is Associate Professor of Political Science at the Center for Comparative International Studies, Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois.

Leila Nadya Sadat is Henry H. Oberschelp Professor of Law, Washington University School of Law, St. Louis.

Gerry Simpson is Reader in Public International Law at the London School of Economics and Senior Fellow at the University of Melbourne. He was a legal adviser to the Australian government on the International Criminal Court.

Peter J. Spiro is Charles R. Weiner Professor of Law, Temple University, James E. Beasley School of Law.

Chandra Lekha Sriram is Professor of Human Rights at the University of East London School of Law and Director of the Center on Human Rights in Conflict.

Curtis A. Ward is currently a consultant to Security Council Report. In 2000–1, he served on the UN Security Council as Deputy Permanent Representative of Jamaica to the United Nations. He has also served as an independent expert and adviser to the UN Security Council's Counter-Terrorism Committee and its liaison with regional and international organizations.

Nicholas Wheeler is Professor in the Department of International Politics at the University of Wales, Aberystwyth.